

Medical Evacuations Country Comparison Data

The table below illustrates the vast and unequal distribution of patients who have been medically evacuated from Gaza. It demonstrates that large-scale medical transfers are both possible yet only a handful of countries have accepted patients in sufficient numbers to meet the urgent medical need.

Note on data: All figures are accurate as of 21 October 2025. Data for most countries were cross-checked against World Health Organization (WHO) figures.² Where Médecins Sans Frontières (MSF) is aware of additional evacuations, the higher figure has been used, with any discrepancies noted in the table below.

Differences between datasets reflect the fact that MSF has been collecting information since before the Rafah closure on 7 May 2024, whereas WHO data collection began in July 2024. A small number of additional evacuations may also have occurred via secondary countries, but such data are not currently available.

A small number of countries are currently engaged in plans to evacuate additional patients in the last week of October. These are welcome, though limited developments; however, until the evacuations take place, these patients are not included in the figures below.
